

EMAIL TRAIL GOES COLD

I ENDORSE Loretta Barnard's comments (Your say Dec 1). I emailed Jason Falinski three times in two months about the shameful treatment of a 90-year-old by Telstra. Each email got an automatic response. After two months, I received a phone call from a member of his staff who was perplexed that my three emails had received no response from Mr Falinski's office. I was assured that Mr Falinski would contact my friend to express his concern and offer assistance. Five months later, our patience is rewarded with a pre-recorded message promoting Jason.
